Prior to working for the State, Ann spent some time at St. Johnsbury Trucking and Woolworths. Ann was an avid naturalist very involved in maintaining the natural wildlife, birds and forest of her state. She was a lifetime member of the National Audubon society, the Vermont covered bridges and the NRA. She loved hunting, fishing, hiking and outdoor photography. She not only was a talented photographer, she was a skilled leather craftsman. Ann was loved and admired by her many friends, neighbors and family. She will be greatly missed. Ann will be returned to Vermont, her home. Services and memorial will be held at a date to be announced.
